Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-3, and 5-22, drawn to a thin film deposition apparatus.

Group II, claim(s) 23-29 drawn to a thin film deposition method.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Groups I and II lack unity of invention because even though the inventions of these groups require the technical feature of a reaction chamber with a rotation driving means for sequentially exposing substrates to gas, this technical feature is not a special technical feature as it does not make a contribution over the prior art in view of Hwang et al. (US 6,656,284), which provides an apparatus for forming a thin film with a rotating driving means to sequentially expose substrates to gas.

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

If Group I is elected, elect also between Species A, the gas retaining means comprising an upper plate for retaining the gas, exemplified in Claims 5-10 and 12-15; and Species B, the gas retaining means comprising a shower head, exemplified in Claims 16-17.

If Species A is elected elect also between Species i, the partition walls are installed in a radial direction, exemplified in claim 6 and

Species ii, the partition walls are installed in a spiral form, exemplified in claim 7.

If Group II is elected, elect also between Species C, the method comprising a step of rotating a plurality of reaction cells above a susceptor, exemplified in Claims 23-24 and 26-29 and Species D, the method comprising a step of rotating a susceptor below a plurality of reaction cells, exemplified in claim 25.

If Species C is elected elect also between Species iii, a step of supplying the gases from the center of the susceptor in a radial direction, exemplified in claim 26, and

Species iv, a step of supplying the gases vertical-downwardly towards the susceptor in a shower head fashion, exemplified in claim 27.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

4. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

The following claim(s) are generic:

Claim 1 with respect to Species A and B

Claim 5 with respect to Species i and ii

None with respect to Species C and D

Claim 23 with respect to Species iii and iv

5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The species do not share a special technical feature. As discussed above, as the Species relate to the Groups, even though the inventions of these Species require the technical feature of a common apparatus comprising a reaction chamber with a rotation driving means for sequentially exposing substrates to gas, this technical feature is not a special technical feature as it does not make a contribution over the prior art in view of Hwang et al. (US 6,656,284), which provides an apparatus for forming a thin film with a rotating driving means to sequentially expose substrates to gas.

Moreover, as between the Species, there is no common technical feature, since the species.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

6. A telephone call was made to Lori Cuomo on April 02, 2008 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
